Local Department.

Hello!

The Bell Telephone is now in working order.

See Covert & Bartram's unique adv. of this week.

Mrs. R. O. Beebe is visiting friends at Mattawan.

Miss Mabel Neff is visiting friends in South Bend, Ind.

Mrs. Chan. Oobcock will spend the next two weeks in Detroit.

Mrs. M. V. B. Hungerford favored us with one of her resplendent bouquets, last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kilburn have been rusticated for the past week in Gliddenburg.

E. A. Blackman and wife are taking a little recreation in the shape of a trip around the lakes.

Ice cream festival on the M. E. church lawn on this (Wednesday) evening, Aug. 22. All invited.

Union services at M. E. church Sunday evening. Preaching by the Rev. Isaac Taylor of Niles.

A. Hathaway & Co. offer great bargains in lumber. Read their announcement in another column.

Mrs. J. F. Smith, of Arcade, N. Y., is visiting her mother, Mrs. G. A. Rawson, and other friends.

Miss Gertrude Snow, whose fall term of music opens here Sept. 10, is spoken of as a very fine teacher.

Spruce gum and hair cut pompadour are all the rage. Our bald-headed editor effects them both.—Covert.

Willie Welch has recently returned from the Agricultural college, having attained the dignity of a sophomore.

Jay is unable to announce the fortunate number this week. See what he has to say about it in another column.

Miss Julia Bennett and Miss Clara Stone from Newaygo, are spending a few days in town, guests of Mrs. G. E. Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Heckert have returned from their town trip looking hale and hearty, and reporting a glorious good time.

John Bryar and Elmer Sirrine made a flying trip to Grand Rapids, last Saturday night, returning Monday morning.

The interior of our school house is receiving fresh paint, calcimine, and a general furnishing up for the coming year.

"Uncle" John Smolk had a house full of pretty girls last week. One of our young men told us they were from Deatur.

Henry Ismon, formerly a well-known resident of this town, now residing at Pullman, Ill., arrived Saturday for a short visit.

R. O. Beebe has effected the sale of W. H. Randall's house, corner of Niles and St. Joseph streets, to J. B. Smith for $1000.

A report of the meeting of the County Grange and our Keeler correspondences were received too late for insertion this week.

Broadhead Post No. 31, G. A. R., started Wednesday to attend the re-union at St. Jo., carrying with them their muskets and dag.

Sam. La Mont—drunk—gathered in by Sheriff VanAken—his Honor, Justice Warner, blandly remarking "Twenty days at McCabe's hotel."

Our toney barber, L. Roberts, was rejoiced last week by the arrival from Missouri of his aged father, whom he had not seen for twenty-two years.

The first peaches of the season came into market last Monday, from the peach farm of H. W. Odell, near Lawton, bringing the snug little sum of $4 per bushel.

Gremps street is rapidly taking on the appearance of a boulevard, two blocks having already been graded. Hi. says he will make that the finest drive in the county.

Bert Tripp, one of our old time pupils at Bangor, made us a pleasant call last week. He is the man of the firm of Burkett and Tripp, and reports business in a prosperous condition.

Henry Caswell of Alamo, Mich., is looking for a stray horse, "weight about 10,000 lbs." If Barnum should see one of those posters, Henry, he would be looking for that horse, too.

Herbert VanZant—beastiality—was introduced to Justice Mason by Under-sheriff McCabe; examination waived and in default of bail, will await his trial in state at the Cross-bar house.

Alf. Ingraham is the man to make your whole domain so shining clean that every fly runs such risk of broken legs that few will attempt to invade your premises. We know by experience.

Lectures will be given on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of the State Teachers' Institute which opens Aug. 27. Board has been secured at 50 cents per day for those in attendance.

Mrs. W. W. Allen of Watervliet, has been enjoying a little re-union with old schoolmates here, after an absence of nine years. She says she finds a great change in the general appearance of our town.

The mercury took another sudden leap, the latter part of last week, and Sunday was voted the hottest day of the season. The thermometer registered 90° in the shade before nine o'clock in the morning.

Our little school ma'ams, Kate and May, have returned from the country, where they have doubtless employed the golden hours in gathering mental power and muscular tissue for the coming campaign.

There will be Sunday-school at the Presbyterian church at the usual hour next Sabbath, at which time arrangements will be for a picnic. It is hoped that everyone interested in this affair, will be present.

Arthur Rogers had a narrow escape while out hunting last Friday. The shell being rather a tight fit for his gun, he attempted to drive it in when it exploded, filling his face full of powder, though doing no permanent injury.

A card from O. W. informs us that he will not return quite as soon as he expected. Now that he has got fully into the merits of a vacation tour, there's no knowing when we shall be able to get him into the work-day harness again.

Still our people are doing what they can to increase the next census. Nelson Baldwin reports an eight pound boy who arrived on the 18th, while Peter McKellar comes snuggly in on the evening of the 20th, saying "it's a girl this time."

With what incredulity would the early settlers of our pleasant village have listened to a prediction that, in 1883, its enterprising citizens would be able to indulge in neighborly conversations with Lawton, Deatur, or Kalamazoo at will.

The Bloomingdale Leader charges us with grumbling because he "copied a locat" without giving due credit. Now Brother Smith, at this time of year, we shouldn't think of such an extravagance as indulging in "locats," or copying with typ p's.

Last week Thursday the last will and testament of Amasa Stone, deceased, a wealthy business man of Cleveland, O., was filed for probate in Probate Court before Hon. Orrin N. Hilton. The will disposes of over three millions of dollars in specific bequests.

Proceedings have been recently begun by the superintendents of the poor, against Wm. and Edward Moden, for the support of their brother John who is now a county chargee; also against Thomas Threngdun, in the case of his sister before mentioned.

As Mrs. Popendick was driving toward the bridge west of town, the carriage tongue became loosened and frightened the horses which started to run, but were stopped by Mrs. P. just at the verge of the embankment. No damage done, except that the lady received a severe fright.

Quarterly meeting at the M. E. church next Sabbath. Presiding Elder Taylor will be here and preach on Friday evening, Saturday morning, and Sunday evening, the official board having excused him for Sabbath morning that he might dedicate a new church on the Mattawan circuit.

In view of the generous arrangements now being made, and the very able corps of teachers engaged, we predict great success for our Union School during the coming year, and see no reason why it should not prove a most desirable place for all who wish a thorough education.

We learn that the crops on the farm of Jim. Ballard, some miles from Aberdeen, were badly damaged by the severe hail storm which fell in southern Dakota a week or more ago. It seems a big story, but it is authentically reported that hail stones fell which measured ten inches.

The good people of Gliddenburg will be greatly astonished at the news that one of our most exemplary young men, Allen L. Whipple, is now in our State prison,—but when they learn that he is engaged as an instructor at a salary of $700, their surprise will be of quite a different sort.

The season of cyclones seems to be over for the present, and we notice a relieved expression on the countenances of those who own "cyclone protectors." It is worthy of remark that the casualties by land and sea during this first half of 1883, have been greater than those of any two years within the last decade.

A valuable set of false teeth are slumbering in the gloomy depths of Paw Paw lake, and a certain Bangor man mournfully repeats "Full many a gem of rarest ray serene, the dark unfathomed depths, etc."—Waters' old Record. We have heard that "Charlie" is devoting all his spare moments to the perfection of a patent diving apparatus.

He lay upon the sidewalk and incoherent muttered, "Where's Stewart? Dead-ern-hell, you bet!" hecupically uttered. They helped him up and bore him home his limp form each side lifting.

The next week's leader, in big type, read "Whither are we drifting?"

We notice that in the Rochester races on Tuesday last, the horse George V., formerly owned by Thomas Welch of this place, won handsily in the 229 class leaving the gamblers finely, and tickling the grangers. His best time was 2.20. The gamblers and sports bet on Maxey Cobb to their sorrow, as Geo. V. won at a lively clip on the home stretch.

The past week seems to have been an unusual one for runaways. The last account is from Gliddenburg where Geo. Prater was thrown from a load of straw on his way from the field, one wheel passing over his head, the other over his side. The next day Geo. bore quite a resemblance to a prize-fighter, but was soon able to resume his labors.

We were glad to meet our old friend, Anson Goss, one of Bangor's substantial men, the other day, and found him looking none the worse for his trip to Dakota. Mr. Goss made a very thorough survey of the Territory, but does not enthuse at all as a result of his observations. He thinks two years from now will see a reflux of the wave of emigration in that direction.

We would again call the attention of all teachers requiring a 3d grade certificate to the fact that such an examination will be held at Lawrence on Friday, Aug. 31st. Knowing that many would attend the Institute, and being desirous of consulting their convenience, the Examiners decided that this date would accommodate a greater number than any other.

It seems to be generally understood that one home will no longer accommodate Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hudson, as she has decided to give her ambition fuller scope in the Three Rivers Seminary, while he will remain in Paw Paw with his little daughter. It is extremely unfortunate that so many young people after living together a few years, find that they are entirely uncongential.

George D. Boyce of Porter, reports the following sales of thoroughbred hogs, delivered during the past week:

1 Essex boar 12 mo's old, to Wilson of Jackson	$60
1 " " " " " " " " " " " " " "	10
1 " " " " " " " " " " " " " "	19
1 " " " " " " " " " " " " " "	19
1 " " " " " " " " " " " " " "	19
1 Suffolk sow 6 " " " " " " " " " "	6
Total	$143

In addition to the above, Mr. Boyce informs us that he has orders for six more at similar prices.

We would call special attention to the advertisement of our Union school appearing elsewhere in our columns. We are glad to see our Board of Education taking steps to place our public school in its proper position before the people. As there is nothing that adds more to the prosperity of any place than a well conducted public school, we hope to see our citizens manifesting some of their old time interest in this matter during the coming year.

Mrs. Jennie Buskirk closed her very successful labors in the Gliddenburg school with an unusually pleasant picnic, which occurred last Saturday in the beautiful grove surrounding her residence. A tempting array of viands was spread beneath the trees at which 143 persons refreshed the inner man, afterward adjourning to the arena in front of a temporary platform which had been erected on the west side of the house, and there listened to an interesting literary program.

A private letter, written to one of our citizens by Mr. J. P. Cooney, who has in charge Wm. Underwood, the fire-blower, says that Underwood is mystifying all beholders with his exhibitions. At present they are at Atlantic City, N. J., a noted watering-place for Philadelphians, and a few days after their arrival, Underwood performed his feat while in the water during the bathing hours, and in the presence of hundreds of bathers and spectators. Mr. Cooney says "Underwood is ranking lots of friends, and this has been a day he will never forget."

Mrs. Will. Stinton of Antwerp, met with a serious accident last week, while out riding with her two little girls. The horse became frightened at a burnt stump, jumped sideways, and Mrs. Stinton was thrown from the carriage, striking on her head. She was at first thought to be very seriously injured, but was better at last accounts. The little girls remained in the carriage, and the elder displayed considerable bravery for a miss of thirteen years, succeeding not only in quieting her sister, but also in stopping the horse without any damage being sustained.

The following is a verbatim copy of a very original postal lately received by Mrs. E. A. Crane from her little son now visiting in Denver, and shows considerable talent in letter-writing, for one so young:

Tuesday August 15

Dear mama

I wish you would send me waist you bought me I am going to have suspenders when I go to school grandma is going to put buttons on my pants I will have to have new books and glad you got home safe and hope you are well

Robbie

The Daily Republican of Meriden, Conn., contains quite an extended account of the rescue of a yachting party of five ladies and two gentlemen from a watery grave, by our former townsman, C. A. Harrison, assisted by one other gentleman. It seems that, as the party were on their way to Stony Creek, a law struck the boat, and, before the ropes could be cut, it capsized, and the entire party found themselves struggling in the water. Fortunately they all retained sufficient presence of mind to cling to the sides of the boat, and still more fortunately Messrs. Harrison and Bartholomew, who were out dishing, were able to reach them before it was too late, although the ladies were so exhausted that one of them fainted while being pulled into the boat. As no other boat was in sight of the yacht at the time, they doubtless feel extremely grateful to C. A. and his friend.

Look Out For Him!

It seems that N. U. Fitzgerald, the pension lawyer, has of late been beautifully polished off in one round by the fighting editor of one of the local papers in Washington, with whom he wished to fight because the editor refused to retract an article published the week before, showing some of his dishonest practices in his pension business. Fitzgerald got knocked out of time and out of the office, leaving spectacles and hat on the floor. He is the same Fitzgerald who sent the bogus express package to the soldier in the Home at Milwaukee, marked "Pension papers pertaining to claim No. —, C. O. D. $10.55." The soldier was expecting his pension, so paid the amount only to find, when the bundle was opened, that it contained no money, but an inquiry for further proof. Soldiers, look out for him! He is doing business for some of you in this country, and will bear watching.
